Lewis Wins $2-Day Pay Hike for Northern Miners

Expect Similar Demand on Southern Group

Report Pact Calls For $1.20 Boost Sept. 1, 80 Cents April 1

WASHINGTON (UP)—John L. Lewis has won a hefty $2-a-day pay hike for his soft coal miners in a secret agreement with Northern coal producers, informed sources said today.

These sources said the agreement was reached between Lewis and top-level officials of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn., which bargains for the major segment of the soft coal industry, including the so-called "captive" mines owned by the big steel companies. Officials of both sides, however, refused to comment on the report.

Informed sources said Lewis might be expected in the near future to serve a similar pay increase demand on the Southern Coal Operators Assn., which bargains for most Southern coal producers.

The sources said the new agreement provides for a $1.20-per-day increase on Sept. 1 and another 80 cents on April 1, 1956, boosting the UMW basic wage to $20.25 a day. The agreement, they said, also provides other contract improvements.

Spectacular Comeback
The increase would mean a spectacular comeback on the wage front for Lewis and his United Mine Workers. Their last wage increase was in 1952—$1.90—but their pay still ranks with wage rates in the auto and steel industries.

The $1.20 increase alone would be the equivalent of the 15-cent hourly pay increase won by the CIO Steelworkers in a pace-setting settlement last July 1.

The agreement also was said to call for improved vacation pay and for overtime pay for Saturday work and double time pay for Sunday work. It was said to run to Aug. 31, 1956.

Same Strategy
The sources said Lewis apparently is using the same strategy he succeeded with in 1951. That year, he also secretly negotiated an agreement with the Northern producers and then used it to get Southern producers to fall in line.

The UMW contract has been subject to re-opening since Aug. 1, 1953. But neither side made any public move to do so. Lewis "sat out" the round of wage increases in 1953 and 1954, apparently because of the coal industry depression.

But soft coal production has picked up this year, particularly in the captive mines which feed the nation's steel mills. In the first 7½ months of this year, total production was 21 per cent above that for the same period last year.

Coal industry officials have maintained, however, that prospective production for the whole of 1955 still will not be high enough to put the industry back into a "sound" financial condition.

Democrat Group Boosts Powell For U. S. Senate

Democrats from four Illinois House districts, meeting Wednesday at the St. Nicholas hotel in Springfield, unanimously decided to back Rep. Paul Powell, of Vandalia, for U. S. Senator at the next general election.

The Illinois State Register suggested in an editorial June 27 when the legislature was preparing to adjourn, that Powell should be the Senatorial candidate.

The legislative group at the Wednesday meeting represented the 40th, 52nd, 53rd and 55th Illinois House districts.

The motion to have Representative Powell run for U. S. senator from Illinois was made from the floor. All present voted in favor of the move.

Presiding at the meeting was Milton Olson, Democratic county chairman of Christian county. Olson called the meeting being held in conjunction with "Democratic day" at the state fair.

Among those backing Powell for senator were the following representatives: Rep. Carl Prehls, of Pana; Rep. Bill Lyons, of Macoupin county; Rep. Edward Schaefer, of Montgomery; and Rep. Edward Eberspacher, of Shelby.

Among the county chairmen present were Joseph Prosser, of Shelbyville; Robert L. Dove, an attorney, Shelbyville; John Bulington, of Montgomery county; Ken Ogle, of Madison county; Eugene Smith, of Fayette; Carl Johnston, of Bond; and Edgar Fuess, of Macoupin.

Roy Staiger is Beginning 51st Year as Member of First Presbyterian Choir

'Wonderful Years,' Harrisburg Businessman Says

'Well Done, Good and Faithful Servant' — Matthew 25:23

Roy Staiger, Harrisburg businessman and singer, is beginning his 51st year as a member of the choir of the First Presbyterian church of this city.

Mr. Staiger came to Harrisburg from Carmi Aug. 16, 1905, to work for the W. A. Grant Jewelry store and the first Sunday after coming to Harrisburg sang in the church choir and with few exceptions has been in the choir every Sunday during the past 50 years.

"I have been blessed with good health and have greatly enjoyed serving my church through the choir work. It has always come first," declared Mr. Staiger today. When he came to Harrisburg as a young man and started his long and faithful service to the church there was no regular minister as the pulpit had been vacated by a resignation and a call had not been issued to a new pastor.

Away During War Period
It is a coincidence that the same situation existed as he completed his 50th year. Several weeks ago the pulpit was vacated by the resignation of Rev. John Emig and the church has been served by Rev. Peter Fischer as interim pastor.

Fifty years ago the Presbyterian church was a small red brick building where the Orpheum theater now stands. Mr. Staiger recalls that Mrs. Nellie Swan was church organist, playing a reed organ and that among others, his employer, W. A. Grant, was a member of the choir.

Mr. Staiger was away from Harrisburg for about six months during World War I, serving with the YMCA as business secretary. He was stationed at Camp Perry, 5th Regiment, Great Lakes, Ill. He was away from his accustomed place in the church choir more Sundays during that half-year than in all other years combined.

Sang in Kiwanis Quartet
Rev. Emanuel Quetz was the pastor when Mr. Staiger became a member of the church, about three years after he first started attending.

Mr. Staiger has participated in many singing programs in Harrisburg, taking part in Elks Minstrel shows and as a youngster in Carmi did lots of "barbershop quartet" singing.

Several years ago he teamed with Charles Ferguson, Bob Hine and Bob Burnett, with Harry Reed accompanist, in the Kiwanis quartet. They were in great demand in Harrisburg and community and appeared at the Kiwanis International convention at Memphis one year.

At the present time Mr. Staiger, Bob Burnett, Vern Joyner Sr. and Helen Ashbell sing as a quartet, mostly at funerals.

During and immediately following his high school days he played the alto, tenor and cornet in bands and orchestras, but since coming to Harrisburg has confined his musical activity to singing.

Choir Chief Interest
Even though he has been active in other fields of music, the church choir has remained his chief interest.

"I remember the many years in the choir, looking out over the congregation and even now I can 'see' those faithful members who came every Sunday and occupied the same pew. Then they passed on to their 'Great Reward' and for many, many Sundays after there was a vacant place in the church. It just wouldn't seem right for someone to be sitting in the place so long occupied by those faithful worshippers."

"There have been many wonderful associations during the years working in the choir. Without those associations the years would be empty," Mr. Staiger declared.

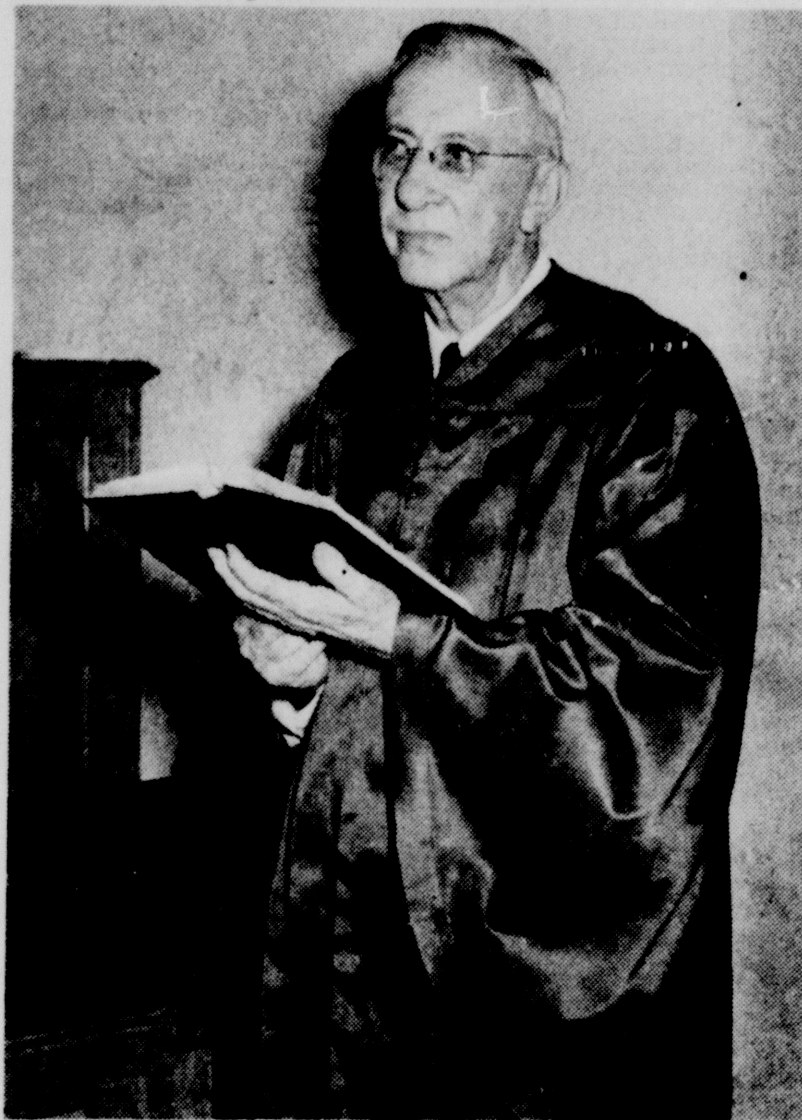

After coming to Harrisburg Mr. Staiger married the former Lydia Mae Ament. They had three daughters.

Daughters Are Singers
Miss Dorothy Jean Staiger is in New York City where she does concert singing, has appeared in light opera and TV.

Mrs. Jerry (Elizabeth Ann) Es-kew, has just finished a season in musical comedy in The New England states, appearing in "Wonderful Town" and now is in Los Angeles, Calif., rehearsing for the show "Plain and Fancy." Her husband is in TV as an actor and director.

Their other daughter, Mary Jane, died in 1940 while a student at the University of Illinois. She was an accomplished pianist.

For half a century Roy Staiger has remained faithful to his church and his employment. He has seen his church and his chosen work grow and expand as his city progressed.

OIL REPORT: Two Hot Spots Stand Out in Saline County

Taken from the Robertson Tri-State Oil Report

Two hot spots stand out in Saline county this week, around Shure Oil Company's John C. Baker No. 1, NE 1/4 SW 1/4, 14-8S-6E (Raleigh) and the John Stelle Associates' Marion Fox No. 1, SW 1/4 NE 1/4, 10-9S-7E (Cottage).

The Baker well, four miles west of Eldorado, set casing at the Lower Elmo sand at 2908.18 and the Aux Vases line at 2955.62, with a 90-minute drill stem test at 2907.20 gassing in 10 minutes and recovering 1520 feet of clean oil, and a 90-minute drill stem test at 2954.73 gassing in eight minutes and recovering 2850 feet of clear oil.

The Fox well, a three-mile wildcat five miles east of Harrisburg, swabbed eight barrels of oil an hour from the Lower O'Hara line at 2770.76 after acidizing.

There was one producer in the completions listed for the period ending Aug. 17. It was the Carter Oil company's Ernest H. Patton No. 3, NE 1/4 NW 1/4, 14-8S-7E (Eldorado), which made an oil well in the Waltersburg and had initial production of 60 barrels of oil per day on pump after a 24-quart shot.

Dry and abandoned were: The Gentles-Zeas Marjorie White No. 1, 300 feet south and 450 feet east of NW 1/4 NE 1/4, 19-8S-7E; Wayne Miskern's Perkins No. 1, NE 1/4 SE 1/4, 10-10S-6E (Independence); and Sunray-Midcontinent's J. M. Wise No. 1, SE 1/4 NE 1/4, 11-10S-6E.

John Stelle Associates No. 1 Chicago-Harrisburg Coal Co. No. 1, SW 1/4 SE 1/4, 10-9S-6E (Harrisburg), was drilling at 726 feet.

C. E. Brehm's Gill Communized No. 2, his Odle Cardwell No. 1, and his Edna Gill-Williams Communized No. 1, all in Section 30 of Tate township were testing the Aux Vases.

John M. King, a member of the state legislature from Glen Ellyn, Ill., reported that his Eva Pearce Communized No. 1, 275 feet south and 428 feet west of the NE 1/4 NW 1/4, 21-8S-7E, which is a block south of the Eldorado high school, has 18 feet of saturation in the Waltersburg sand. King also is drilling the Hedger et al Communized No. 1, in the same area and with the Shure Oil Co. has a permit for the Mahoney Estate Communized No. 1.

Arch Baker, 55, Resident of Muddy, Drowns

Body Found in Crab Orchard Lake; Note Indicates Suicide

Arch Baker, 55-year-old resident of Muddy who was an employee of the Danagrath-Bradley Co. in the Ordill area of Williamson county, drowned yesterday in Crab Orchard lake.

The body was found floating face downward in the east part of the lake at 1:30 p. m. yesterday. His body was sighted by Guy Emery, fireman at Ordill, who called for help. The body was pulled from the water by two employees of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Alfred Manke and Harry Stiles.

The two applied a resuscitator and worked over him for about an hour without success.

There was a cut on his forehead. It had not been determined how he received it.

An inquest was held last night at Marion, conducted by Deputy Coroner Hosea Borum, at which there was testimony that a note was found in his car parked near by which indicated he may have taken his own life.

Roy Campbell, manager of the industrial area at Ordill, and his assistant both testified they saw Baker in the water a short time before he was sighted by Emery and thought he was swimming.

The body was taken to Marion, then brought to the Turner funeral home in Harrisburg.

A former employee at the Wason coal mine, Mr. Baker is survived by his wife, Anna; a daughter, Mrs. Anna Louise Karnes of Harrisburg; three sisters, Agnes Wilson of Muddy, Tressa Foster of Muddy, and Grace Crabasley of Denver; two brothers, Charlie and Lee Baker of Russellville, Ark., and one grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Monday at the Turner Chapel. Rev. T. G. Bruns will officiate.

Carrier Mills Youth, Object of All-Night Search, Shows Up

A young man from Carrier Mills failed to show up on a squirrel-hunting trip which resulted in an all-night search for him in the Little Saline area around Rock Hill in Stonefort township.

The youth showed up at daybreak after about 75 searchers from Carrier Mills and Stonefort, the county sheriff's force and a Civil Defense unit from West Frankfort combed the area near where his car was found by the side of the road.

The group feared the youth may have shot himself or been shot accidentally.

Object of the search was Gary Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Thomas, who went squirrel hunting about 4 p. m. yesterday.

When he did not show up his father and a group from Carrier Mills started the search about 10:30 p. m. County officers were called shortly after midnight.

The Civil Defense unit, a truck manned by four men which had flares and spotlights, and the group, carrying all types of battery lights, combed the area all night.

Shortly after daybreak the boy came walking out of the woods, and told searchers that he became lost and decided to wait until daybreak, lying down and going to sleep.

Good Enrollment In Baptist Seminary Extension Center

The Harrisburg Seminary Extension Center of the Southern Baptist Seminary held registration day on Thursday for those planning to attend the classes during the fall term of 1955.

The registrar, Rev. Wm. B. Fuson, reports a total of 36 courses enrolled. There are others yet to enroll in the school who will be privileged to do so until the closing registration date is announced. Several have requested an extension of the time for enrollment so the request that interested persons will contact Rev. Fuson in the very near future.

The opening classes will be held Sept. 8 in the First Baptist Church of Harrisburg with Dr. H. L. Waters as the instructor. Classes are scheduled for one day per week for an 18 week period.

Kefauver Charges GOP Criticism of Korean War Influenced Conduct of POWs

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said today that Republican criticism of the Korean War "undoubtedly" influenced the conduct of American prisoners who are now called turncoats.

The Tennessee Democrat made his charge in an attack on the new prisoner of war conduct code issued this week by President Eisenhower. Kefauver said the code was fine for "club conditions" but questioned its value to a cold, hungry, suffering man facing enemy interrogators.

Kefauver released a letter to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, saying that he was not satisfied by the long report of the secretary's advisory commission on prisoners of war which set up the conduct code. He urged Wilson to undertake "a more thorough study."

Kefauver said all American servicemen should already have been drilled in the principles of the code.

"But what I would like to know," he wrote, "is whether we as a nation are playing square with some of the boys who have never left home before, who had but a few years of education, who are now labeled 'turncoats,' tried and given very little chance to resume the life of an American citizen."

"These young boys before they left undoubtedly had heard some of the highly publicized and political criticism of the fight in which they were engaged—such phrases as 'useless war' and 'Truman's war,' many of them uttered right here on the floor of the Senate and by men who are now in high important positions in the government from whence the new booklet emanates," Kefauver said.

Police Try to Pin Three More Murders on Admitted Cop Slayer

CHICAGO (UP)—Police tried today to pin three more murders on a confessed cop-killer who was captured in Chicago's biggest man hunt since the days of John Dillinger.

They said Richard Carpenter, 26, would be questioned about three unsolved tavern slayings.

Carpenter, who has also admitted wounding a second policeman, was flushed Thursday night by police bullets and tear gas from an apartment where he had held a family of four hostage nearly 24 hours.

The once-cocky gunman, originally sought for a string of tavern robberies, at first denied the police shootings and "begged like a baby" not to be shot by grim officers.

But he broke down under hours of grilling and confessed killing Det. William Murphy, 34, on a subway platform Monday night, and severely wounding rookie officer Clarence Kerr, 28, in a movie theatre gun duel Wednesday night.

Both had recognized the deadly "lone wolf" gunman and tried to arrest him.

Meanwhile, an inquest was scheduled for Monday into Murphy's slaying, and State's Attorney John G. Gurnea said the Grand Jury would be given the case when it convenes Aug. 31.

He was ordered held to the Grand Jury on $100,000 bond. Carpenter denied being involved in any other shootings. When a 13-page statement of his confession of the police shooting was drawn up and handed to him to sign, he refused, saying he wanted the advice of an attorney first.

Later, one of his attorneys, James P. O'Malley, indicated the desperado will base his defense on "police brutality."

"I am convinced that many of the remarks and admissions that our client made were for the sole purpose of forestalling any more physical mistreatment," O'Malley said.

Carpenter, from his maximum security cell in Cook County Jail, added, "There was no reason for them to beat me up."

Photographs revealed that Carpenter's scalp and face were bruised and cut in a savage encounter

Hughes Requests Meat Included in Food Distribution

Eugene Hughes, board member of District 11, Progressive Mine Workers of America, today said that some areas are receiving meats in its federal surplus commodities and that he had written to officials seeking inclusion of meats in commodities distributed in southern Illinois.

Letters were written to U. S. Senator Paul H. Douglas, U. S. Senator Everett M. Dirksen, Congressman Kenneth Gray and Gov. William G. Stratton.

Hughes' letter said: "I am requesting information on the surplus food that is being distributed in the various states by the Federal Commodities corporation. It has been brought to our attention that surplus meat is being distributed and is available for deserving communities, and as you well know, the extreme southern counties of Illinois are hard hit due to unemployment."

"A lot of people receive the surplus foods, but as you well know, meat is essential to one's daily requirements. 'Will you please check into this matter and let us know at once if it can be arranged for this surplus commodity to be distributed in the southern counties of the State of Illinois, along with the rest of the items they are now receiving.'"

At Least 23 More Missing In Five States

Believe 29 to 40, Mostly Children, Dead at Camp David

NEW YORK (UP)—The worst flood ever to hit the northeast section of the United States spread death and destruction today over a five-state area.

At least 94 persons were reported dead and the Connecticut governor's office reported 13 more missing and presumed dead. At least 23 persons were reported missing.

In addition, disrupted communications clouded what may be the worst single disaster in the flood area.

Pennsylvania state police said between 29 and 40 persons, mostly children, may have been swept to their deaths when a rampaging, rain-distorted creek flooded Camp David, near Stroudsburg, Pa.

Authorities feared the death toll also would rise much higher in other sections of the flood area since many small towns still were surrounded by water and cut off from the outside world early today.

Civil defense officials said it might be several days before the picture of horror becomes entire and the full extent of the damage is known.

Pennsylvania and Connecticut were hardest hit by the flood waters but heavy damage and death lists also were reported in Massachusetts, New Jersey and New York.

Floodwaters drove uncounted numbers from their homes, many of which were smashed to splinters by the roaring torrents. A number of towns were without water supplies and residents in most of the flooded area were warned to boil their drinking water.

State-by-state breakdown:
Connecticut: A record rainfall of almost 14 inches sent flood waters over much of the state, taking at least 34 lives. The governor's office said another 13 persons were missing and feared dead. Damage was estimated in the billions and thousands were homeless. Hardest hit areas were around the towns of Winsted, Waterbury, Torrington and Naugatuck. Damage at Waterbury, the worst-hit area, was estimated at 150 million dollars.

Pennsylvania: The rampaging Delaware River and numerous streams which injected flood waters into the big stream has taken at least 37 lives. Many more are feared dead but disrupted communications prevented a complete picture. A grim question mark hung over Camp David, near Stroudsburg, where 29 to 40 persons may have been swept to their deaths. State police said it was not known how many persons, if any, were caught when flood waters swept over the camp but based their figure on the number of persons that would have been housed at the camp during the current vacation season. The community of Stroudsburg suffered the worst effects of the flooding with 12 bodies already recovered and more missing.

Boston Railroad Isolated
Massachusetts: Much of the state was under flood waters today, with known dead and 10 missing. Five of the dead were claimed by the flood when a huge wave of water from a burst dam swept over the town of Charlton, trapping four victims in a small store and another in his automobile. Railroad movements in and out of Boston were stopped for the first time in Massachusetts history Friday, but limited service was restored today.

Ten state communities were told to boil all drinking water and damage was set in the billions of dollars. Disaster officials said it was the worst flood in Massachusetts history.

New Jersey: At least five persons were known dead. Three of the deaths occurred when two boys drowned in the Millstone River near Princeton and a policeman who tried to rescue them also died. Damage was done mostly by the flooding Delaware River which poured flood waters over central and southern sections of the state.

New York: The flooding Delaware and Neversink inundated large sections of southeastern New York state and swollen streams roaring down out of the mountains did more damage. Worst hit were the towns of Port Jervis and Ellenburg. Two persons were reported dead.

Two more deaths were reported in Virginia. The victims drowned in the flood-raised Potomac River.

Farm Leaders To Attend IAA Policy Meeting

CHICAGO—More than 300 farm leaders will gather August 22-23 at the Leland hotel in Springfield to kick-off the Illinois Agricultural Association's 1955 policy development program.

Members of the IAA, statewide Farm Bureau organization, each year discuss local, state, and national issues as a prelude to the adoption of policy resolutions.

The Springfield meeting will set the stage for hundreds of community discussion gatherings out of which will come the opinions of members, according to O. D. Brissenden, assistant to the IAA president.

Attending the meeting will be presidents, organization directors, and policy development committee chairmen from the 99 County Farm Bureaus. Members of the IAA women's committee, Rural Youth committee, and IAA staff will also be on hand.

They'll hear addresses by: IAA President Otto Steffey; John C. Lynn, legislative director for the American Farm Bureau Federation; Charles S. Mayfield, IAA secretary of organization; and Brissenden.

Regular business meetings for Farm Bureau presidents and for organization directors will be held in conjunction with the policy development conference.

Local discussion groups will be provided with background information on more than 30 topics of interest to farmers. Members' opinions will be forwarded to the IAA tentative resolutions committee through county reports at area meetings.

The committee will then draft resolutions to be submitted to the voting delegates at the IAA annual meeting November 14-17 in Chicago.

Resolutions as they are approved by the delegates serve as a guide for the activities of the organization during 1956. Many of the ideas expressed in last year's resolutions were incorporated into laws passed by the Illinois General Assembly and the national Congress.

Some of the subjects which will probably be discussed frequently in local meetings are: national agricultural policy, tax assessments, agricultural research, school problems, toll roads, and revenue and judicial reform amendments to the state constitution.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

The value of good farm ponds was forcefully brought home to many farmers during the last two or three years when severe droughts created terrific problems in providing water for livestock and home use. Of course, a rash of farm pond building resulted—some of them good and some poor. Undoubtedly, more ponds are being planned on area farms.

The season is at hand for building such farm ponds. The logical time is in the late summer or early fall when low areas needed for a pond have dried sufficiently for moving the soil and when the frequency of heavy rains is less. There should be at least one pond on every farm where the terrain is such as to make ponds feasible.

Constructing a pond costs money. Hence, if it is worth building at all, it is worth constructing correctly. To rattle out to the field with a bulldozer or tractor and scraper, gouge a depression in the earth's surface, and throw an earthen obstruction across the lower end merely pours hard-earned money down a rat hole. Much time and money will be saved by careful advance planning and technical assistance, and the results will be of lasting benefit.

Soil Conservation Service men are available in most areas and are able to provide technical help in planning and constructing the pond. Farm advisers are able to help. Plenty of detailed literature on farm pond construction may be obtained from state and federal departments of agriculture and from the agriculture divisions of universities and colleges. It would be poor business to try to build a farm pond without consulting such aids.

It is beyond the scope of this column to go into such details. A few general suggestions might be in order. One of the first considerations should be the location of the dam which determines also the size and depth of the pond and the construction cost. Generally, the pond should be at least six feet deep and larger in surface area than one-fourth acre.

The watershed above the dam must be large enough to keep water in the pond during dry periods, yet not so large that it will be endangered by floods in heavy rainstorms. Neither should it be so big as to require a large and expensive outlet structure for excess water. Watersheds between 10 and 30 acres are best and ought to be in grass or ungrazed trees and shrubs. If the watershed is cultivated, erosion control methods must be used so that silting of the pond will not occur. A muddy pond is poor and silting soon will reduce a good-sized pond to a mud puddle.

Next make soil tests to make sure the soil will hold water. The best type is deep soil with heavy subsoil containing lots of clay. If the soil is too shallow the fill will need to be made from earth taken from a borrow pit nearby.

Get someone able to use surveyor's instruments to make a topographic survey of the watershed and pond site, and stake out the boundaries of the pond and the important features of the dam.

Proper construction of the fill is highly important. This involves many technicalities. It means a core trench the full length of the dam, filled with well packed moist clay as a deterrent to seepage. A farm pond needs a water pipe through the base of the dam for watering livestock and other purposes, a spillway pipe of sufficient size to handle normal overflow, and a grass side spillway at one end of the dam having a higher inlet than the pipe spillway to handle flood water. All pipes need cut-off collars of concrete at intervals in the dam to prevent seepage from the pond. Seed the dam in grass and plant grass, shrubs, or trees along other sides of the pond to prevent erosion, enhance the beauty of the site, and provide a sanctuary for wildlife. Keep the pond area fenced against livestock.

Yes, there is more to building a farm pond than throwing an earthen fill across a ditch in the pasture. Rightly done it means good clean water for farm use, and a recreational spot for the family. With a little technical assistance the farmer may do the job at a minimum of expense by using his own farm tractor power and other equipment he likely will have.

Watch out for bluecomb disease in your young pullets when they are between five and seven months old.

Winter Oats and Barley

George McKibben, crops and soils specialist at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station, has his crew busy preparing seed beds for fall seeding. Winter oats will be one of the first crops to go in this fall as a nurse crop for pasture seedlings. The oats are to be seeded early as a hedge against winter killing. Plantings made after September 15 are more likely to winterkill than earlier plantings.

Some recommended varieties include LeConte for extreme southern Illinois and DuBois north to U. S. Route 50. These varieties are winter hardy, but LeConte has better straw strength than DuBois. Other possible varieties include Forkedear and Wintok. It's also possible to seed winter barley early. Kenbar has proved to be an especially good yielder. Other winter barley varieties adapted south of U. S. 50 include Missouri B-400, Kentucky I, Reno and Kearney. Webb and Boggs Back.

Bob Webb, Station superintendent, and Randy Boggs, forester, are back on the job after their vacations. Boggs went east to West Virginia, and Bob went west to Yellowstone Park. Randy drove through the Smoky Mountains, and he reports that the Smokies are cool and refreshing. He thinks they are an ideal vacation spot for southern Illinois residents, since they are only a day's drive from the Station.

If you were to ask Bob Webb about his trip, he would probably caution you against feeding the bears in Yellowstone Park. A most unpleasant bear left his claw marks on the upholstery of the car when the "hand-outs" ceased. Only Mrs. Webb's agility saved her from the disgruntled beast.

Many Visitors

August brings many visitors to the Experiment Station both in groups and individually. Vacationers frequently stop by to look around. "Southern hospitality" is always available, and the visitors seem to enjoy the scenery—lush pastures and well-managed forested areas. Here is a sample of our scheduled tours for August: Carmi veterans' class, August 8; Carmi 4-H Club, August 10; Jefferson County farmers, August 11; Metropolis veterans' class, August 11; Lovington veterans' class, August 15; Group from Monroe County, Indiana, August 17; Clark County farmers, August 19; and FFA district group, August 20.

When to Cut Lespedeza for Hay
Lespedeza hay season runs from early August into October. However, the quality of hay decreases after seed sets on the plants. Lespedeza is at the right stage to make the best quality hay when it starts to bloom. The earlier the hay is cut, the greater the chance for reseedling if that is what you want.

Soil District Plowing Contest In Gallatin Aug. 26

The Gallatin County Soil Conservation District is planning a county plowing contest Aug. 26 at Hill Croft Farm owned by H. J. Meyer. It is near the western boundary of the county on the El Dorado-Ridgway road. The contest will include both level land and contour plowing. Prizes will be $10 and a plaque for winner of first place; $7.50 for second place and $5 for third place.

Only 10 entries will be accepted this year, allowing one entrant for each township. Should more than one from a township enter, lots will be drawn. Also, should any one township fail to supply a contestant some other township will be allowed two entries in order to obtain a total of 10 for the county. There will be a program of entertainment, including speaking and demonstrations. Members of the Gallatin County Home Bureau will have a booth for the sale of lunches and cold drinks.

Gallatin county is included in the Shawnee Soil Conservation Council along with Saline, Hamilton, White, Pope, Hardin, Johnson and Massac counties.

83,000 Bushel State Peach Crop Forecast Stands

SPRINGFIELD (CP)—The State Federal Crop Reporting Service today said there was "no improvement" in prospects for the Illinois peach crop, and that an earlier forecast of an 83,000 bushel crop still stands.

The prospective crop is the lowest since 1930, and only 7 per cent of the 1954 production. Records back to 1889 show that peach production was lower in only four years, the crop service said.

A late spring freeze virtually wiped out the crop in southern Illinois, and fruit in Adams, Pike and Calhoun county areas will largely make up the 1955 production.

The state apple crop, now expected to be 1,800,000 bushels, is about 100,000 bushels over last month's prospects, but still 20 per cent below last year's production. The southern Illinois crop also was damaged by the late spring freeze, but northern Illinois growers are expecting an excellent crop, the service said.

LOST IN OATS—Pretty Priscilla Buinicky, 16, stands head deep in the oats grown by her Claremont, N. H., neighbor, Ned Durkee. The oats reached five feet just seven weeks after planting, a rapid growth which farmers in the area claim is phenomenal.

Illinois Research Fights Oak Wilt Disease

Forest researchers at the Mississippi Forest in Ogle county are waging a battle against oak wilt disease.

As one part of the fight, they are poisoning healthy trees next to wilt "pockets" to see whether they can stop the spread of the disease through root grafts under the ground surface.

T. W. Curtin, forestry research specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says the width of this barrier of poisoned trees depends on the size of the trees involved.

When oak wilt disease moves from tree to tree through the root systems, it spreads at the rate of about one or two tree layers each year, Curtin says.

The disease can also "jump" from infected to healthy trees, over distances of a few hundred yards to more than a mile. How the disease travels this way is not fully known. Curtin says, but foresters suspect insects, birds and rodents.

It is certain that you don't have to cut down all your oaks because of the threat of wilt disease, Curtin says. And even if your trees become infected you can still salvage the lumber.

Facts that come from this cooperative fight being made against the disease at Mississippi by the University of Illinois Forestry Department and the Illinois Natural History Survey will be made known to the public as soon as possible.

Farmers and landowners will feel increasing pressure for greater efficiency of operation during the next 10 years, says a University of Illinois farm economist.

"Back to School Days" Theme Of Party at Small Home

"Back to School Days" was the theme of the party Monday evening at the John C. Small home, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hutchinson of La Mesa, N. M.

Mrs. Hutchinson, the former Anna Baker, was a pupil at Abney school and later a teacher there. The hostess invited several guests who had attended Abney one-room school with the guest of honor.

With the help of several old school group pictures many pleasant and humorous memories were recalled. The oldest picture dated back to 1903 with 53 in attendance.

The school was taught by Harmon Empson. Otis Stone was also a former teacher and he and Mrs. Stone were among the evening guests. The group presented Mrs. Hutchinson with a vase etched in colors.

The hostess served light refreshments to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Allen, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Golliver, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Henn, Mrs. Ollie Clayton, Bert Armstrong and Mrs. Henry Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson and daughter, Kay, of Kankakee, visited his father, Walter Patterson who is recuperating in Lightner hospital following surgery. They also visited his mother, Mrs. Walter Patterson, and sister, Opal, Wednesday night and his brother, Kenneth, and family.

Wife to Fight Charges She is 'Unfit' Mother

RED BLUFF, Calif. (AP) — The wife of Airman Daniel C. Schmidt indicated today that she would fight a divorce complaint filed by Schmidt charging that she was an "unfit" mother for their 2½-year-old son.

The 23-year-old Schmidt, who returned from a Chinese Communist prison camp to find that his wife, Una, had married another man, filed the divorce complaint in the Tehama County Courthouse Friday.

He charged "extreme cruelty" and said he would seek "permanent control and custody" of Danny Jr., on the ground that his 2½-year-old wife was an "unfit mother."

But in Nevada City, Una's attorney, Harold Berliner, said that she would not consent to "giving up her son." He said any further comment would be withheld "until we are formally and regularly served."

Berliner said that Una had again gone into seclusion, but he emphasized that she had not returned to Alford Fine, the 21-year-old logger she married while Schmidt was in prison.

When Schmidt arrived at the Courthouse Friday he was accompanied by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Walter Ferguson, who has publicly turned against her own daughter to support him in the divorce action.

After filing the papers, the two drove to the Ferguson home in Child's Meadows, 52 miles east of here. Schmidt planned to continue to Portland, Ore., to visit his mother, Mrs. Nellie Peters.

At Schmidt's request, the complaint did not contain any specific allegations nor mention such terms as bigamy, adultery or desertion. The airman said he had no desire to drag Una's name "through the mud."

3. That said territory is compact and contiguous.
4. That we petition that you detach the aforesaid territory from the Eldorado Township High School District No. 102 in the said County of Saline and State of Illinois, and annex said territory to the Equality Township High School District No. 55 in the County of Gallatin and State of Illinois; both of which said districts will be compact and contiguous if said petition be granted.
5. That this petition be heard and governed under the provisions of Smith Hurd Annotated Statutes Chapter 122, Section 4B-1 et sequitur.
6. That notice and publication be given in accordance with the Statute in force made and provided.
WHEREFORE, petitioners pray that the above territory be detached from said school district No. 102 and annexed to the said school district No. 55.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT a hearing on the disposition of this petition will be held in the office of the County Superintendent of Schools on the 31st day of August, 1955 at 7:30 P. M.
Dated this 19th day of August, 1955.

Rodgers Named NLRB Chairman

FRASER, Colo. (AP)—President El-senhower named P. Ray Rodgers acting chairman of the National Labor Relations Board Friday after accepting the resignation of Guy Farmer.

Farmer, a Democrat appointed to the board by Mr. Eisenhower, said he wanted to leave the post immediately for personal business reasons. His term expires Aug. 27, 1955.

Mr. Eisenhower is expected to designate Rodgers permanent chairman after Aug. 27. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said.

Farmer's resignation leaves one vacancy on the board.

Rodgers, a Republican, was chief clerk of the Senate Labor committee during the 80th Congress from 1947 to 1949. He lives at Silver Springs, Md.

71 Candidates Invited to Report For Football Drills at U. of Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Seventy-one candidates, including 16 lettermen, have been invited to report for fall drills at University of Illinois. Head Coach Ray Eliot announced today. The squad will assemble for photographers Aug. 31 with practice scheduled to begin at 9:30 a. m. Sept. 1.

The Illini are expected to have a "new look" by time of the opener against California at Berkeley, Sept. 24, since Eliot is relying heavily on incoming sophomores to bring Illinois back from the cellar depths of 1954.

Missing will be All-American J. C. Caroline, captain-elect of the 1955 squad, who is scholastically ineligible, but returning lettermen are expected to man the guard, quarterback, and halfback spots.

New talent probably will be most prominent at center, tackle, end, and fullback.

Strong at Half

As was true in 1954, Illinois, despite loss of Caroline, will be strongest at the halfback spot. Three seasoned performers are ready to step in here: Harry Jefferson at left half, Abe Woodson and Mickey Bates at right half. Sophomore talent is rated high and includes Curtis Griswold, Chicago (Crane Tech), Bob McKown, LaGrange, Buddy Spence, Terre Haute, Ind., and Bobby Mitchell, Hot Springs, Ark.

Quarterback is likely to be a toss-up between Em Lindbeck, senior from Kewanee, and Hiles Stout, 6-4 and 212-pound junior from Peoria Central. Sophomores Chuck Schrader, Champaign, Ed DeLong, Waukegan, and Ray Nitschke, Proviso (Maywood), may enliven the competition for this important role.

Eliot is hoping that shift of two lettermen tackles, Bob Baietto of Streator and Percy Oliver of Miami, Fla., will solve his biggest problem at guard. This leaves tackle spots virtually in the hands of first-year men.

Battle for End Posts

Six lettermen will be in the battle for end positions, but Eliot figures a couple of sophomores may grab the starting berths. They are: Rod Hanson, 6-3 and 205 from Thornton of Harvey, and Jim Henwick, 6-2 and 205 from Ottawa.

The complete invitation list by position, including 13 ends, 12 tackles, 15 guards, 5 centers, 8 quarterbacks, 11 halfbacks, and 6 fullbacks, follows (*indicates lettermen):

Drawings Posted For Golf Tournament At Country Club

Wilbur Barger, secretary of the Egyptian Golf club, announced today that drawings have been made for the country club tournament and have been posted in the club house.

First round play is now underway and at first rounds should be completed no later than Aug. 27 to make way for the second round.

More than 200,000 acres of forests in the United States are destroyed by fire each year.

BIG LEAGUE WAY

Rookie Sparks Eagles to Second Straight Victory

By United Press

The Philadelphia Eagles came up with one of those rare rookie finds today, a football star with no collegiate experience, in chalking up their second straight exhibition game victory in pre-season National League competition.

The youngster is Ted Wegert, a 23-year-old back from the Baltimore, Md., Naval Station and he led the Eagles to a 14-8 triumph over the Detroit Lions at Dallas, Tex., Friday night.

Wegert ran 81 yards for a touchdown on a screen pass play in the opening move of the second period and came through again with a seven yard touchdown plunge on a wide pitchout in the third period.

Detroit had taken an early lead with a touchdown in the first period on an 80-yard drive featuring Low Carpenter's running. The Lions went ahead again briefly in the second period when three of their defenders forced Adrian Burk of the Eagles to ground a pass in the end zone for a safety and make it 8-7. Wegert's second touchdown was the winning margin.

Bobby Watson kicked both extra points for Philly.

Three exhibition games are on tap today. The San Francisco 49ers, who have won two straight, meet the once-defeated New York Giants at Seattle, Wash., the Chicago Bears play the Chicago Cardinals at Jacksonville, Fla., and the champion Cleveland Browns met the Green Bay Packers at Akron, Ohio.

Cardinals Buy Bonus Hurier

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Lyndall McDaniel, a 19-year-old right-handed pitcher from Hollis, Okla., has been bought by the St. Louis Cardinals for a bonus of about $50,000. The six-foot-three inch pitcher compiled a 31-3 won-loss record with the Altus Junior American Legion team in 1951-52.

Ten vice presidents of the United States went on to become president.

Relief Pitcher Narleski Chalks Up Eighth Straight Victory as Indians Win, 2-1

By United Press

If the Cleveland Indians fail to wind up in the World Series this year, it won't be the fault of rubber-armed Ray Narleski, the best "money pitcher" to come along in the relief ranks since Smokey Joe Page.

Narleski doesn't have the speed Page had but he has the same kind of courage, coolness under fire and faculty for winning the "big ones."

He chalked up his eighth straight victory without a defeat and kept the Indians close on the heels of the pace-setting Yankees with a brilliant job that helped nip Kansas City, 2-1, in 11 innings Friday night. With the score tied at 1-1, Enos Slaughter opened the 10th with a double off Mike Garcia and after Elmer Valo beat out an infield hit, Don Mossi came in to strike out Harry Simpson.

Narleski then was summoned out of the bullpen and he struck out Hector Lopez and made Jim Fingen hit into a double play. Then he pitched hitless ball again in the 11th and the Indians won the game in the bottom of the inning when pinch-hitter Dave Mitchell singled home Jim Hegan.

Just Behind Yanks

The victory kept the Indians a game behind the Yankees and in a virtual tie with the White Sox, who defeated the Tigers, 3-0, on a fine six-hit job by southpaw Billy Pierce. Walt Droho hit a two-run homer off loser Steve Gromek and Pierce lowered his league leading earned run average to 1.83 while registering his 10th victory.

Whitey Ford yielded only two hits in pitching the Yankees to an 8-0 triumph over the last-place Orioles. Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle hit homers in the first inning.

Towering Frank Sullivan of the Red Sox lowered the boom on the Senators, beating them, 8-0, for his 15th victory. Bob Porterfield held Boston scoreless until the sixth when Sammy White homered. The Red Sox then rallied for four more runs in the seventh and three more in the eighth as Washington went down to its fifth straight defeat.

Robin Roberts, the perennial ace of the Phillies' staff, became the first 20-game winner of the season by beating league-leading Brooklyn, 3-2. Roberts also became the fifth pitcher since 1900 to win at least 20 games for six consecutive seasons.

Don Newcombe, the Dodgers' 18 game winner, was coasting along with a 2-0 lead until the Phils nicked him for their first run in the eighth and then rallied for two more in the ninth. Newcombe had a chance to choke off Philadelphia's winning rally but he threw a potential double play ball into center field, allowing the tying run to come across. Willie Jones then singled home the deciding run.

Hank Aaron and Del Crandall each smashed two-run homers to lead the Braves to a 7-0 decision over the Cubs. Lew Burdette limited Chicago to six hits.

CHICAGO—(NEA)—An assistant coach quit one of our most famous (and most winning) college football foundries for a Canadian club... because he wants no part of the lousy season he sees upcoming... and has a hunch they'll want him back some day as head man...

A big blow-up brewing in a golfing family brought about by a tangled situation that has even hardened pros ts-k-tsking with arched eyebrows...

"Took me until 40 to find out where the smart football men are—writing sports," twanged Herman Hickman, covering the All-Star Game. "This is nothing like my last All-Star game (1950), against these same Browns (the coached the Stars) right after Stanley Woodward's national magazine story that any good college team could beat the fat and sloppy pros... and on the back page of Stanley's football magazine is an ad quoting me: Hickman says, 'Woodward's always right'."

Durned if Paul Brown didn't hang it on the dressing room mirror! Herman's latest Peahead Walker yarn: "Peahead would take 100 of the biggest boys and turn them loose in the woods... The ones who ran through to the clearing on the other side were backs; the others who knocked down the trees to get out were linemen."

The inside on the special meeting that Ted Williams called for the Red Sox to ban writers from the field is that 18 of the Bosox said they'd let Pinky Higgins vote for them... and when Mike, called in to cast the proxy vote, boomed "No" to Theodore the movement was quashed... and there was no doubt who was boss in Boston...

Henry Aaron was a natural born hitter from the moment he first reported to Jacksonville, Fla... in fact, every time he stepped to the plate he'd just pick up the bat nearest him and swing—size and weight were of no account... so one of his Brave mates finally asked, "Don't it matter to you to have some bats of your own?" Henry, that you can get the feel of?"... Shrugged Henry, "Man, if you can hit, it don't matter what bat you use..." Matter of fact, Henry never even bothered to learn the names of some of the pitchers he used to support in the field...

If you want to play football for Coach Bill Meek at Houston, better get that beltline in trim... he refuses to issue pants over size 38 to any Cougar candidate.

Ex-ill fullback and captain Bob Spear, visiting his famous coaching father in Ann Arbor, contracted polio... and is being treated in the University of Michigan hospital.

O'Malley Says Dodgers, Giants May Leave N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees may be the only "when" left in town by 1958, Brooklyn Dodger President Walter O'Malley declared today.

The Dodgers will move out of New York if they can't obtain a new ballpark by 1953 and the Giants probably would follow them, O'Malley told Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York at a special two-hour meeting Friday.

O'Malley made the statement after he was told by the city that a new stadium for the Dodgers of a choice site in downtown Brooklyn was out of the question. The Dodger president didn't try to conceal his extreme disappointment over the rejection but said there still was some hope.

"I don't want to think about the Dodgers getting out of Brooklyn until I'm convinced we can't get a new ball field," O'Malley said.

But without a centrally-located site where the club could build its own park, the Dodger owner added, and without a municipal stadium to lease, the club probably will have to move out of Brooklyn after the 1957 season.

And if the Dodgers move, O'Malley added, the Giants also will have to do likewise, since the largest revenue of each club results from the 22 games played between them each season. The Giants drew 344,674 fans in their 11 home games against the Dodgers this season, representing more than 40 per cent of their estimated total attendance for the season.

The site for a new stadium that O'Malley had set his heart on getting is at Flatbush and Atlantic Avenues where the Long Island Railroad Terminal now stands. When Robert Moses, construction coordinator for New York City, informed O'Malley that the site could not be had, the portly Brooklyn owner said:

"We have given Brooklyn a pennant contender for 10 years. We are not cheap, but we need a ball park."

One of the favorite foods for picnics or suppers in the backyard is cheese-stuffed frankfurters. Fill the frankfurters with a mellow melted cheese and dill pickle. Serve in toasted buns.

Population of the United States is increasing at a rate of more than 60,000 persons a day, according to the Census Bureau.

Herman Hickman

... under the care of Dr. Dale Leichy... the same Dale Leichy who, as a teammate of Spears, was struck by the polio epidemic that hit the Yale squad in 1949 and cancelled the Fordham game...

If Billy Goodman's throwing wing ever goes bad, he's in no particular fix... the Bosox handyman could turn around and throw left-handed equally well... used to pitch southpaw batting practice for the Atlanta Crackers.

Jackie Jensen's got the problem of following Ted Williams into the batting cage before a game licked...

When The Splinter finishes his licks, steps out and a chorus of cheers goes up, Jensen jumps to the plate, does his cap, turns to the crowd with a bow, smiles and says chestily, "They must mean me." Billy Klaus gets credit for stopping at first base on a double so they couldn't intentionally pass Williams, up next, but actually it was old head Del Baker, coaching at first, who held him up.

Every time the College All-Stars needed a crucial yard against the Browns, Steve Owen yelled, "Bull gang!"... and four 250-pound tackles rushed onto the field...

Between you'n me, this was the first year the All-Star Game crowd figures weren't padded anywhere from 10-25,000 admissions.

Does going to church seem to you old-fashioned? Well, it is, for worship is as old as creation, yet ever-new.

In church buildings before the fourteenth century there were no seats. Worshippers stood, or sat on cold damp floors. Later, three-legged stools were used.

Today, churches compare with our finest buildings in modern beauty, comfort, and convenience. Our speech habits have changed with advancing generations. Scriptural style, too, has changed, yet neither meaning nor intent has been altered. The Bible's message remains the same—a gospel of good news filled with faith, hope, and love—for you, the same as for your forefathers.

Then be old-fashioned. Go to church. Find for yourself a faith that is steadfast—"the same yesterday, today, and forever,"—yet modern as tomorrow.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sunday School Lesson

By Dr. Archie E. Brown
Pastor First Baptist Church
Vandalia, Ill.

'Hope For the Exiles'

By yDr. Archie E. Brown
Isaiah 55

GOLDEN TEXT: "Incline your ear, and come unto me; hear, and your soul shall live." (Isaiah 55:3)

INTRODUCTION: Thousands of people today are living in strange lands. They are being held captive by their enemy. Some are slaves, and some are in prisons. Whatever their state of being, they are out of place.

So it was with the Children of Israel when they were held captive and downhearted. The only comfort they ever seemed to receive was from the prophets of God. These men were given glimpses of the future by God, and they told the people of better days to come.

Isaiah was one of these great prophets of old. He had a sincere note of evangelism in his message. His description of the coming and of the sacrificial death of Jesus Christ, is nothing short of miraculous.

In the 55th chapter of Isaiah we hear the prophet sounding a high evangelistic note.

I. "COME YE" (V. 1)
One can almost see Isaiah standing in the crowded market place sounding forth the message from God. People gather around him in a closely packed crowd to listen. They are a strange looking people. Their skin is thick and dark because of the hot sun. Men, women and children all wear long, loose-fitting robes, tied with a sash at the waist. On their heads they have scarfs. A head band around the crown of the head holds the scarfs securely.

Listen, the prophet is speaking: "Ho, everyone that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price." They knew what he meant. Salvation is the greatest gift God has given. He gave His only begotten Son that men might be saved. Isaiah is telling these people that.

ple, and you, that salvation is free. "Come ye."

II. THE EVERLASTING COVENANT (V. 25)

Isaiah is saying: "Listen to what God has to say to you." He invites them to compare this gift with any other in all the world. There is nothing equal to it.

"Wherefore do you spend money for that which is not bread? Isaiah is telling us that too many people seek in the wrong places for peace and joy. There are people today who are literally burning the candle at both ends in an effort to find peace of mind. It is a futile effort. There is no place where peace of mind, joy and salvation can be found, except in Jesus Christ, our Lord.

III. SEEK THE LORD (V. 6-9)
The wonderful thing is that the Lord may be found by any earnest person. There will come a time when this privilege will not be possible. However today any interested person may, "Seek the Lord, while he may be found." He is also near!

We are also assured that God will "abundantly pardon." The wicked person must "forsake his way." The unrighteous man must "forsake his thoughts." When this is done, God will "have mercy on him."

"For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord."

IV. JOY OF THE SAVED (V. 10-13)

"For ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace." This is the very thing for which man is seeking. Is it not strange that so many folks refuse to ask for the very thing they desire most?

He tells us that "the mountains and hills shall break forth before you into singing." "What 'born again' person does not know the meaning of this statement. Everything is sweeter and brighter to the person who knows Christ as Savior.

CONCLUSION — There is hope for those in exile. Just as the Children of Israel were out of place in Babylon, just so are the called of God out of place in this world today. They are "strangers and pilgrims in a strange land." They seek a "better country, that is an heavenly." Thank God, any man, woman, boy or girl who earnestly seeks Him can be assured of finding Him today!
